

BELIEF GROWING IN "GENTLEMEN'S AGREEMENT" RUMOR

Astute Observers Deduce From Official Assertions That Carranza Is Acting in Good Faith. That Scott and Obregon Did Understand Each Other.

Mexican Troops Want Honor of Restoring Order and Capturing the Bandits.

Best Reports Are to Effect That Bandit Gangs Are Being Scattered—Relentless Pursuit Is Kept Up.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Washington, May 16. — Elements of the unwritten agreement between United States and de facto Mexican army chiefs are based upon the belief of the United States that General Carranza is acting in good faith, it was practically confirmed today.

It appears that there is a tacit understanding that Carranza forces shall have an opportunity to show their ability to handle the border situation, as a preliminary step toward negotiating the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico. General Obregon has agreed to occupy and police the Parral district, scour the mountains for Villa bandits and establish a heavy patrol on the Big Bend border, it is known. TEN THOUSAND CARRANZA TROOPS HAVE BEEN ORDERED TO THIS DUTY. CARRANZA HAS AGREED NOT TO BRING A LARGE FORCE IN THE REAR OF GENERAL PERSHING'S NEW FORMATION.

IN RETURN, THE AMERICAN TROOPS WILL NOT IN ANY WAY ENCOACH ON MEXICAN MILITARY MOVEMENTS, ACCORDING TO THE AGREEMENT. American border settlements are now safe from Mexican raiders. Administration officials were confident today.

Only a general anti-American outbreak, with Carranza soldiers participating, would endanger American ranches with the new distribution of fresh troops practically completed, it was indicated.

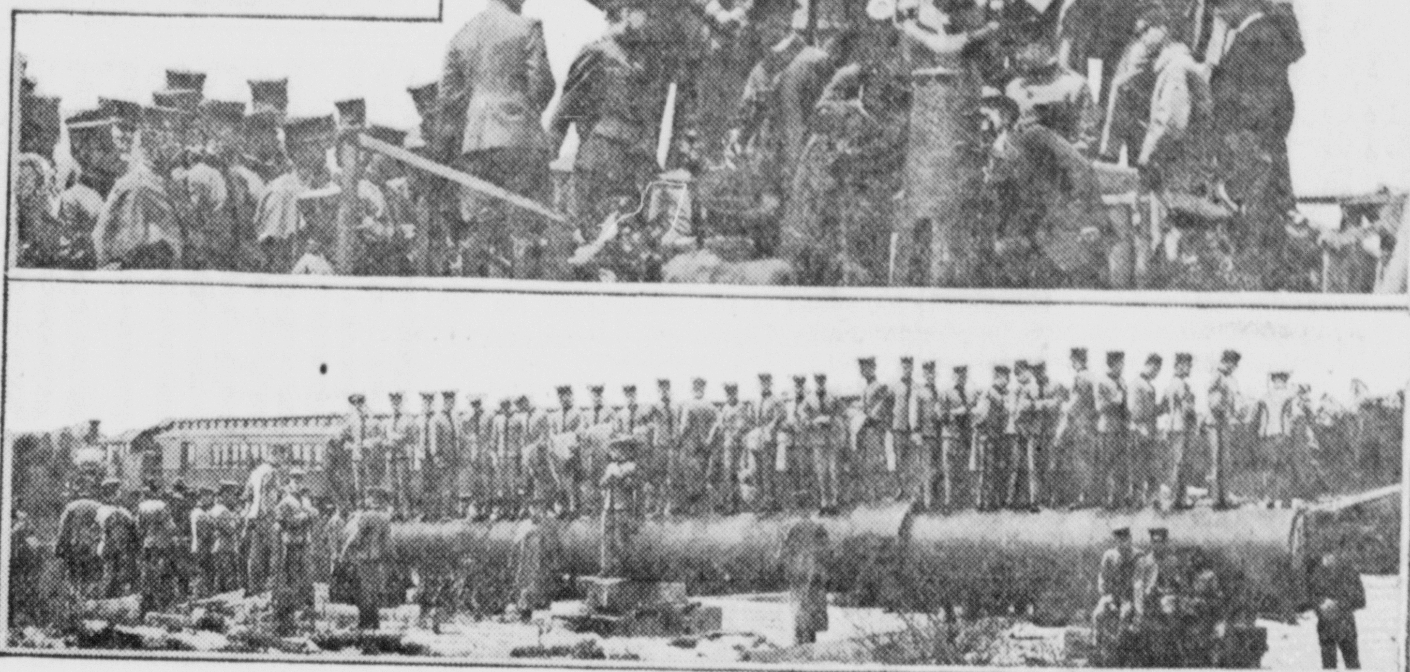

The Mexican Ambassador in Washington today declared the departure of a Mexican envoy to Tokio forbodes no alliance of Mexico with Japan.

Culmination of the extermination of the scattered bands of Villa followers is rapidly approaching, army officers report.

Few fugitives remain of the big bands. A small bandit army remains south of Namiquipa and a flying

WEST POINT CADETS SEE BIG GUNS WORK

The West Point graduating class, 125 cadets, invaded the Sandy Hook proving grounds to be initiated into the mysteries of the government's artillery, from the sixteen inch rifle (the lower picture), the mightiest weapon in the world, throwing a 2,400 pound projectile twenty-two miles, to the tiny pom-pom rapid fire anti-air craft gun (seen here also), with its bark like that of an angry skye terrier, shooting a vicious little one pound bursting shell some two miles into the air. The sixteen inch gun shoots a shell one and one-half times as large and more than twice as far as the German 42 centimeter howitzer.

FIELD HEADQUARTERS IN MEXICO, WIRELESS TO COLUMBUS, N. M., MAY 16.—FRANCISCO VILLA HAS RECOVERED FROM HIS WOUNDS AND HAS BEEN BUSY FOR SOME WEEKS ATTEMPTING TO RAISE A NEW ARMY IN THE STATE OF DURANGO, ACCORDING TO A REPORT RECEIVED AT HEADQUARTERS TODAY.

CAVALRYMEN AT ONCE TOOK THE TRAIL OF A SMALL BAND OF BANDITS KNOWN TO BE IN THE VICINITY OF RUBIO RANCH, 20 MILES AWAY.

THREE VILLA BANDITS WERE SLAIN BY AMERICANS AT THAT POINT YESTERDAY.

FINAL FIGURES ON ARMY BILL

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Washington, May 16. — Revised figures on the army reorganization bill, as agreed upon by House and Senate conferees and submitted to the Senate today, show that the new army will be even larger than announced when agreed upon last Saturday.

Analysis show that the maximum strength in peace will be a grand total of 261,500 men.

The National Guard, as reorganized, will total 457,000 men and make a total of 718,500 men available.

INSANE MAN'S AWFUL CRIME

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Rochester, Indiana, May 16.—William Dollars, 30, a miller at Macy, a village near this city, today shot and killed his mother, Mrs. Anna Dollars, 50 years old, his daughter Agnes, 5 years old, and fatally wounded his son George, 11 years old, and baby daughter Ida, 2 years old.

He then went to a nearby cemetery where he killed himself on the grave of his wife.

It is believed that the recent sudden death of Dollars' wife caused him to go insane.

RETURN TO WORK

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Youngstown, O., May 16.—Practically all of the striking employees of the big steel plants here returned to work today, pending expected immediate settlement of wage differences.

One of the companies granted a 10 per cent increase. About 4,000 men are involved.

Although No Criminal Responsibility May Attach, the Damage Claims Will Be Tremendous.

Contractors Attempting to Shift Blame to Employees and Restaurant Owners for Not Taking Proper Precautions.

Nine Dead and 28 Injured, Two Probably Fatally.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Akron, O., May 16. — State and county officials today were planning a searching inquiry into the collapse of the Crystal Restaurant here last night in which nine persons were killed and twenty-eight injured, two probably fatally.

The restaurant was crowded when it was wrecked, and slid into an excavation on an adjoining lot where a new building is to be constructed. Survivors told of hearing the sound of blasting on the adjoining site before the building fell.

Searchers completed a hunt of the wreckage early today without finding any more bodies, and all of the missing have been accounted for. None of the injured died during the night.

Mayor W. J. Laub, after a conference with the city safety director and building inspector, announced today that he would begin an immediate investigation to fix the responsibility.

Word came from Columbus that state building inspectors would come today to either assist in the Mayor's investigation or conduct one of their own.

It was conceded by authorities that responsibility lay among building inspectors and contractors excavating for the Johnson block adjoining the restaurant on the north and Henry Green, a saloonist, owner of the building.

The building, a one story brick affair, collapsed following the explosion of four dynamite blasts by employees of Franklin Brothers, contractors, who are doing the excavation work.

An official investigation will be required to determine the exact cause.

The blasting authorities say the blast was the immediate cause, but they are not sure about the precautions taken by the dynamiters and the owners of the restaurant building.

Even though no criminal responsibility be fixed, huge damage suits are expected to result.

The entire property loss in the disaster is estimated at $25,000.

Two hospitals were filled with the dead, dying and injured within two hours after the disaster.

In one hospital, two men went insane from the horror of their experience in the disaster.

GERMANS MAINTAIN OFFENSIVE

Hammering on the French Front at Verdun Is Kept Up Energetically—Incessant Bombardment.

Hint of Possible Developments of Importance East of the Fortress—Heavy Shelling of French Positions Reported in That Section.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

German activities on the Verdun front are being continued energetically west of the Meuse, where the French positions in Avocourt and on Hill 304 are being subjected to incessant bombardment.

There is a hint of possible developments of importance east of the fortress on the French right flank. Heavy shelling of the French lines in this sector is reported.

News is awaited as to movements of the fleet of German battleships reported last night to have left Kiel for Riga.

Petrograd recently has indicated an expectation that a powerful offensive by the Germans against the Riga-Dvinsk front was in immediate prospect.

Whether a sea operation is to be undertaken in conjunction with a land movement remains to be developed, but is momentarily expected.

SOME RULES FOR NEUTRALS

Germany, in a New Note Presented to Secretary Lansing Lays Down Rules for Neutral Ships.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, May 16. — Germany in a note presented to Secretary Lansing by Count von Bernstorff today, warns neutral governments that merchant ships flying flags must obey the provisions of international law in regard to their conduct when stopped by a German submarine, and that they incur danger should they turn their ship in the direction of the submarine.

ACTIVITY AMONG THE PRISONERS

Witnesses Tell of Casement's Efforts at Recruiting.

EXPERIENCES IN GERMANY

Attorneys For the Defense Will Endeavor to Show That the Freedom of Ireland Was the Only Thing Involved and That the Irish Brigade
Was Not to Attempt to Assist the Germans.

London, May 16.—The prosecution introduced testimony at the trial of Sir Roger Casement for high treason tending to show how Casement carried on the alleged recruiting for his Irish brigade in German prison camps.

The most dramatic part of the whole proceedings was the address of the attorney general, Sir Frederick E. Smith, who outlined Sir Roger Casement's former services to his country, told of the honor bestowed upon the prisoner by his king, and then shifted abruptly to the details of the conspiracy said to have been hatched in Germany. It was during his address that the attorney general introduced a letter written by Casement, thanking Sir Edward Grey, the British secretary for foreign affairs for the knighthood conferred upon him in recognition of his Putnam services.

According to testimony given by Daniel O'Brien, another Irish prisoner, who was at Limburg, Germany, during Casement's visits and who afterwards was exchanged, Casement was hissed and hooted out of the Lim-burg camp. Some members of a Munster regiment struck Sir Roger and several prisoners, including O'Brien, were punished for it, the witness testified, their rations being cut down.

Daniel Julian Bailey, an Irish private soldier, one of Casement's companions on the ill-fated submarine trip from Germany to Ireland, is also being tried with Casement.

Casement's attorneys several times
questioned the witnesses as to why Casement wished them to join the Irish brigade. The point of the questions seemed to be to show that the freedom of Ireland was the only thing involved and that the brigade was not to attempt to assist Germany.

MUCH CRUSHED STONE IS DISTRIBUTED IN UNION TWP.

Road Repair Moves Very Slowly
on Account of Few Teams
Available—To Rebuild Large
Section on Greenfield Pike—
Road Roller Not Unlimbered.

During the past several weeks 75 to 80 cars of crushed stone have been applied to roads in Union township, and just as soon as more teams are available still larger quantities of crushed stone will be applied. So far the stone has been applied but not rolled, although it is the intention of the commissioners to have the roller used on part of the improvements.

The stone, which is being applied
under the direction of Highway Superintendents Oliver Baughn, Beryl Cavinee and Jack Steele, has been shipped in from Loveland, Columbus and other points, and the work has been delayed by the scarcity of teams.

The Palmer Pike has received a very liberal application of the material, and considerable of the stone also has been placed on the Jamestown pike. This week the work of applying some to the Circleville pike will be launched.

Within a short time the work of scarifying the Greenfield pike and rebuilding it from the corporation line to near the R. C. Hunt farm, will be taken up. A road builder from Marion, Ohio, is to be on the job. The road roller will be used on the Greenfield pike.

Another section of road which is to receive attention in the very near future is the Lewis pike to the Devalon road improvement.

Talk of purchasing a sprinkler to be used in connection with the road roller, has been indulged. The constant use of the road roller in rebuilding or repairing the roads in the county, is being urged.

Roadwork throughout the county has moved forward slowly, because,
as announced by the commissioners
Monday, few teams have been available to haul the material.

Girl Seriously Injured.

Woodsfield, O., May 16.—Grace
Nething, five, is in a critical condition
as a result of a small electric light bulb exploding in her mouth here.
Her mouth and throat were badly cut and it is feared that she swallowed parts of the broken glass.

Second Degree Murder.

Cincinnati, O., May 16.—Harry E.
Leahy, former stock broker, who shot and killed Frank Clements, a workhouse guard, Aug. 31 last, pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the common pleas court. The plea carries with it a life sentence in the penitentiary.

After New York Presbytery.

Cincinnati, O., May 16.—By a vote of 49 to 30 the presbytery of Cincinnati defeated a movement to rescind its action of a month ago, asking that the New York presbytery be expelled and,
instead, accepted a substitute motion reaffirming the request, with arguments appended.

Work of Burglars.

Gallipolis, O., May 16.—Burglars broke into the Hocking Valley and Kanawha and Michigan railroad offices here and got away with a quantity of tickets and money. Blood-hounds in charge of police trailed the culprits for a mile to a bridge, where the scent was lost.

Wounded in Pistol Battle.

Dayton, O., May 16.—During an encounter Officer Charles Thomas was shot in the right side and William Robinson, negro, was fatally wounded by Officer Chester Mapes. The revolver clash was the climax of a series of raids the police department has been making on bootleggers.

Democrat Defeated.

Port Clinton, O., May 16.—Louis S.
Warner, Republican, was made clerk
of the Ottawa county election board, which reorganized here, winning out in a contest with T. H. Cousino, Democrat, who has held the clerkship for seven years. George McCritchie, Democrat, was elected president.

Episcopallians Meet.

Cleveland, May 16.—One hundred clergymen and several hundred lay delegates from all parts of Ohio are attending the annual convention of the Ohio diocese of the Episcopal church, which opened today in Trinity cathedral. Right Rev. W. A. Leonard, bishop of Ohio, is presiding.

Pleads Guilty.

Elyria, O., May 16.—Martin Bischoff, placed on trial here for first degree murder in connection with the killing during a recent quarry strike of Night Watchman Rupert Becker of Amherst, changed his plea to guilty of second degree murder shortly after the trial of the case started and was sentenced to the penitentiary for life
by Judge Thompson.

Would Place Blame For Fire.

Sandusky, O., May 16.—Investigation of the $300,000 fire which last week swept several stores in the heart of the business district was started today by Assistant State Fire Marshal W. S. Reece of Bowling Green. He will endeavor to ascertain if an old livery barn in which the fire originated was not one which had been condemned by the department and ordered razed long ago.

COULD YOU GET NEW JOB AT 72?

John C. Southall, Well-Known
Merchant, Makes a Great Record.

What would be the average man's prospects of getting a new job in his seventy-second year on the strength of being able to do the work of a man of forty?

Mighty slim chances, the big majority of humanity would say.

But not so with John C. Southall, coal dealer, of Fourth and Terrace avenues, Dayton, Ky.

"Like the tens of thousands of others, I thought I would have to leave hard work to the younger generation when I reached the allotted three score and ten," said Mr. South-all, recently. "For more than ten years I felt this condition coming on.
"Even when well past my prime I was pretty strong and weathered many an arduous gale by sheer vigor."

"First my stomach failed me and then I seemed to contract catarrh.
One of the members of my church suggested that I try Tanlac, which is almost a household word around Cincinnati and the nearby cities."

"Thankful to say, while I am only on my second bottle, anyone in Dayton will vouch for my statement when I declare that I can do as hard a day's work as any man half my age, and with no great effort."

John C. Southall is known and revered by more than half the people of Dayton, Newport and the nearby cities. Mr. Southall is one of the oldest members, if not the pioneer
attendant, of the Fourth Avenue
Baptist church of Dayton.

It is upon such statements as these—from men and women of the highest integrity—which come in an apparently never-ending chain,
that the wonderful success of Tanlac has been built. They are the guarantee of its merit extraordinary.

Tanlac, the ideal reconstructive tonic, is being especially introduced in Washington C. H. at Blackmer
& Tanquary's where the Tanlac Man daily explains its merits and what may be expected from its use.

Mexican Soldiers and Civilians at Tampico Renewing Unfriendly Demonstrations Toward American Residents, Who Are Becoming Alarmed.
Mexican Embassy Denies Wild Report Circulated in the States.

Washington, May 16.—Major General Scott, chief of staff of the army, who returned from his conferences on the border with General Obregon, Carranza's minister of war, saw Secretary of State Lansing before the cabinet meeting today.

"General Scott," said Secretary of War Baker, "appears to be in a very hopeful frame of mind. He seems to feel that a favorable situation has been created by his conferences with General Obregon, despite the fact that they did not result in any formal agreement."

General Scott turned over to Secretary Baker a considerable quantity of data relating to the conferences.

Reports to the state department indicated activity on the part of American consuls in Mexico to get Americans out of the country.

The Mexican embassy made a statement denying published reports that General Carranza has sent emissaries to Japan and Germany to enlist the support of those countries in case of war between the United States and Mexico.

Encouraged by General Nafarette, commander in that district, Mexican soldiers and civilians at Tampico are renewing unfriendly demonstrations towards Americans there, according to advices received at the state department.

In consequence of the growing ill-feeling, which appears to result from the continued presence of American troops in northern Mexico, the Americans are becoming alarmed. The navy department, which has been advised of the situation, has instructed the commanders of the gunboats Marietta and Machias, which are in the vicinity, to hold themselves in readiness to render protection to the Americans.

The state department was further advised that through the persistent efforts of the American consul at Tampico three Americans who had been held in prison by the local Mexican authorities have been released. The men were being held on the pretext
that they fired an American schooner.
Senator Phelan of California enlisted the aid of the state and navy departments in favor of the Americans, whose homes are at Oakland, Cal.

Ohio's Election Laws

As the time draws near when the great nation wide elections are to be held, people begin to think more often about those great election night times that come around quadrennially.

Time was, and in the memory of some of the older folks now living too, when not much in the way of definite information as to the result of the balloting was expected for several days—even weeks.

But those times, when the telegraph and telephone wires did not reach to every isolated village and hamlet and voting precinct in the land, are years behind us now. In these days the people want to know "how it went" before they go to sleep on election night. They not only want that—they demand it as a matter of right.

And that demand which we all know will come along this election night, just as it has for two or three decades past, reminds us, forcibly, of the existence of an unpleasant condition, the crudeness of the election machinery of our own progressive state of Ohio.

The way the election officers in Ohio do not get their reports in serves to conceal news of election results a length of time that would have occasioned unpleasant remarks twenty-five years ago.

The trouble is that our election laws do not compel a proper and prompt count of the vote and do not cast on the election officers the duty of making prompt returns of the balloting in their precinct.

We can get results from the great cities of the land in a few hours after the election is over. We can get the results from rural sections of other states, but not from Ohio.

Our election officers are creatures of political parties—they owe whatever of scant duty the law places upon them to a purely voluntary organization.

There is an army of them, but they are controlled by no given power which can inflict upon them the punishment commensurate with the offense of keeping an interested public in suspense.

Ohio should lift itself out of the rut of stage coach and postal card days in her election machinery as she has in other lines.

Suspicious a Waste of Time

There's enough trouble in the world without trying to manufacture any and the person with a suspicious disposition, inclined to be doubtful of motives to distrust and worry, is surely doomed to more than his share of trouble.

Of course, it isn't real trouble; most of it exists largely in the imagination, but it looms up just as big and distressing as something worthy of the name of trouble.

Everybody who has glasses rightly adjusted knows that there is far more good than evil in the world and that the average man is well intentioned. Life is surely too short to be wasted in worrying over somebody else being faithless, or the possibility of people not thinking just what you would like them to think.

It's disheartening to be deceived, and to be disappointed in a friend takes some of the zest out of life for a while, but often the disappointment is largely imaginary. The friend, busy or absorbed in temporarily vital matters, seems to be careless, the passing idle words, viciously repeated, have been altogether altered, the intended meaning, the matter which stands out so big to you is from his viewpoint too trivial to demand second thought.

As between the man who believes too readily and the doubting, suspicious man there is no comparison.

The suspicious individual is by long odds the most miserable. The credulous man may find himself sometimes the victim of deceit, but the very fact of his ready acceptance of people and attitudes at their best inclines to win liking and his own inner life is not poisoned by the rankle of small suspicions, often most unjust and untrue.

Have you ever noticed the people inclined to be distrustful—to awaken in you doubts and questionings? Aren't they usually the people whose lives are devoid of big purposes—who find idle time with no absorbing interests or people so steeped in a certain kind of egotism that their own sense of importance is enlarged until it becomes actually sensitive to any possible lack of attention. It may even be that ones own attitude is not always what it should be and he sees it reflected in others.

There is one thing that you can bank on—it isn't worth while to waste time in being unhappy and suspicious. Devote the same amount of thought to doing some kind act or to some unselfish deed and you'll find that before long you won't know that suspicions exist.

If the friend isn't what he ought to be it isn't you it hurts—its himself.

Poetry For Today

TO ALL ETERNITY.

When whitely blooms the rose of morn
 In gardens of the sky,
 And gay with laughter of the birds
 The lyric winds go by,
 I often think how dull would be
 The morning without thee!

When noon has swept the hills with gold
 And tinted bright the trees,
 When in their leafy tents the birds
 Have hushed their minstrel glees,
 I think how gray and lone would be
 The noontide without thee!

When evening call the thrashes' choir
 For vesper service sweet,
 And from the clangor of the day
 Hearts find a calm retreat,
 I know how void of rest would be
 A twilight without thee!

You are to me the morning's joy,
 The noontide's sunny beam,
 The twilight's friendly hand of peace,
 And ever do I dream

How great my need of you will be Through time's eternity!
 —Arthur Wallace Peach, in The People's Home Journal.

A HISTORIC HOUSE.

Where Tyndale Started to Translate the Bible Into English.

About two miles from the old market town of Chipping Sodbury, England, stands an old time house known as Little Sodbury manor house, which, quite apart from its celebrity as one of the oldest examples of domestic architecture in Gloucestershire, has been justly styled "the birthplace of the English Bible."

In one of the old rooms William Tyndale, who lived there for two years, conceived the idea and commenced the work of translating the New Testament into English.

In 1521 Sir John Walsh, owner of the manor house, had need of a chaplain and tutor for his children, and his choice fell upon Tyndale, who had just completed his university career. Tyndale was in great favor with his master, who encouraged him in the great work he had undertaken.

It is quite possible that the translation would have been completed here, but Tyndale, having expressed his opinions too freely to the neighboring clergy, found himself secretly charged with heresy and summoned to appear before the chancellor of the diocese. Although at the time he was merely admonished, he did not consider it safe to continue in the manor house, thereby involving his patron in danger, so he left and proceeded with his translation in London.—Christian Science Monitor.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Device For Keeping Water Hot In Washing Machine.

The illustration shows a simple home-made attachment for a washing machine to keep the water hot, says Popular Mechanics. As may be seen, the heating unit consists of two three-quarter inch pipes, one return bend, two unions and two close nipples, which are screwed into the sides of the machine. The stove is a single burner hot plate. The unions permit the ready dismantling of the pipes in case they become clogged with dirt. This attachment, fitted to a power machine, lightens the work considerably.

Roast Goose.

Having selected a young, plump bird, singe and clean at least twelve hours before it is to be cooked. When that time arrives fill the cavity of the body with a stuffing made as follows: One cupful of mashed potatoes, one cupful of well cooked rice, one cupful of breadcrumbs. To the breadcrumbs add one egg, well beaten, one small onion, grated; butter size of an egg, adding salt, pepper and sage according to taste. Mix all together and stuff bird, but not too heavily. Rub the outside of fowl over with butter, dust with flour and roast as for turkey, not forgetting to baste with the gravy in the pan very often. When served, surround the roasted goose with a circle of small red apples which have been hollowed out into cups and filled with cranberry sauce.

Kidneys and Onions.

A nice supper or luncheon dish may be prepared as follows: Take six lambs' kidneys and six large onions (Spanish preferred); pare the onions, halve and take out the centers, leaving the outside to form a cup. Wash and trim any fat or skin from the kidneys, place one in each half onion, sprinkle with pepper and salt and a small piece of butter, cover with the other half onion and fasten with a small skewer. Place in a casserole or deep baking dish, cover and cook in a hot oven about half an hour. Thicken the gravy with a little cornstarch mixed with cold water. The insides of the onions may also be placed in the dish.

Onions and Apples.

Frying apples with onions makes the latter more digestible and delicious, says the Country Gentleman. Use two-thirds part of tart apples to one part of onions. Slice and fry in a little butter or drippings. For baking, place alternate layers of sliced onions and apples in a baking dish, seasoning each layer with a little salt and a pinch of sugar. Sprinkle buttered crumbs on top. Add just enough water to moisten well and bake, covered, an hour and a half. Then uncover and bake thirty minutes longer, browning well.

Salt Ham.

If the ham is too salt try this method: Soak the ham for at least two days before cooking in cold water, changing the water once or twice, and add just a little milk to the last lot of water. It is wonderful what a lot of difference it makes. If the ham is boiled half an hour for each pound and half an hour extra after it has been soaked in this way and then left in the water in which it was cooked until the water is cold it is delicious.

Chicken a la Souffle.

Boil the chicken until it is very tender. When cold remove the skin and bones. Place in individual cups a layer of chicken, sprinkle with salt, pepper and bits of butter and some finely chopped ham. Add another layer of chicken and ingredients and so on until the cup is nearly full. Over this pour some of the chicken liquor and some heavy cream. Bake until brown and garnish with radishes.

Preserved Oranges.

Slice large oranges in quarter inch slices and cover with cold water, allowing a pint to each orange, and let them stand twenty-four hours. Cook until tender in same water. Do not allow them to become very soft. Add one pound of sugar and the juice of a lemon for each orange used and cook until transparent. Place the slices in jars, cover with the sirup and seal.—Country Gentleman.

Date Cake.

Pour one cupful of boiling water over one cupful of dates (stoned, but not chopped). Add one level teaspoonful soda and let stand while you make the cake. For cake use one cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of butter or lard, one and one-half cupfuls of flour. Add dates and beat well. Bake in moderate oven.

To Clean Brass.

An ounce of alum put in a pint of boiling water and allowed to cool and bottle for use at any time will remove all stains and tarnish from brass and will not injure the skin on the hands or the metal itself. It only requires to be rubbed on the surface and wiped off.

Surmounting a Crisis.

Edward Everett Hale used to tell with a rueful smile a story of his boyhood, when, like other boys, he occasionally mislaid some of his belongings. His gloves in particular had a strange way of disappearing one at a time. At last his mother, by way of assisting his memory, sent him out one day with a red cotton glove on one hand and a white glove on the other. Even at this painful crisis, however, his wits helped him.

"I held one hand in front of me and one behind my back," said Dr. Hale, "and it seemed to me that people coming toward me would think I had on a pair of white gloves, while those behind would think I wore a pair of bright red ones."

100 ELKS TAKE BUCYRUS TRIP

Twenty-two Auto Loads Leave This City Early Tuesday Morning for Big Session in Bucyrus—All Reach Marion at Noon.

More than a score of automobiles, laden with Washington Elks, left this city early Tuesday morning for the big meeting in Bucyrus, and at 12:05 p. m. the following telegram to The Herald, dated at Marion gave enlightenment as to progress made:

"A hundred Elks in twenty-two cars arrived at Marion at noon. All well.

"JESS W. SMITH."

The long string of automobiles, with banners flying and making a very imposing spectacle, pulled out of this city at seven o'clock, and a short time later two cars had returned for repairs before continuing the trip.

A great deal of enthusiasm was manifested by the Antlered Herd, and it is expected that few cities the size of Washington will have so large a delegation at the big meeting.

Returning the Elks will reach this city sometime Wednesday.

OLLIE LEE PROVES TO BE OLD TIMER

When Ollie Lee was being passed into the Mansfield Reformatory Monday, after being escorted to that institution by Sheriff Jones, to serve a term for burglarizing the Gossard Garage, the clerk of the institution looked him over and said:

"Well, Jackson, when did your name get to be Lee?"

It then developed that "Lee" as he was known in this city, was Ollie Jackson and was entering the reformatory to serve his third term for burglary, his last offense prior to his crime in this city being at Youngstown, where he burglarized a store. He was employed in Columbus, on parole, up to February 29th, and a few days later was arrested in this city.

Lee, while on the way to the reformatory, had confessed to Sheriff Jones that his name was not Lee and that he had done time in the Mansfield state prison.

RAILROAD IS SOLD FOR JUNK

The Columbus & Southern railroad, a thirty mile road extending from Wyandotte, on the Pennsylvania railroad, midway between Circleville and Lancaster, and following Saltcreek valley to Laurelville, has been sold as old junk, and will be torn up and disposed of accordingly.

The road was sold by the receivers to Joseph Schonthal Iron Co. at $42,000.

The "system" consists of 30 miles of track, locomotive, baggage car, coaches, flat cars, switches and other accessories.

About one year ago the road passed into the hands of a receiver and since that time has not been operated.

It was the original intention to extend the road to Columbus and connect with one of the railroads to the south.

MIDNIGHT BLAZE ON EAST MARKET

Fire which originated from unknown sources, damaged the M. O. Ireland factory building, a small structure in the rear of his premises on East Market street, Monday night shortly after midnight.

An alarm was turned in and the fire department quickly extinguished the blaze, which did not seriously damage the plant, burning some rafters and a small section of siding.

The building is being utilized for the manufacture of lamp brackets and road drags.

WILL ATTEND ANNUAL INSPECTION

A number from Royal Chapter O. E. S. No. 29, drove over to Jeffersonville Tuesday evening for the inspection of Jeffersonville Chapter O. E. S.

Among those who went were Miss Vera Veal, Deputy Grand Matron, Mrs. C. E. Mark, Worthy Matron, Mr. Winfield Hay, Worthy Patron, and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Klever, Mrs. Will Klever, Dr. and Mrs. T. W. McFadden, Auditor A. W. Duff and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Rodgers, Miss Clara Davis, Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Rowe, Mrs. Frank Hays, Mrs. J. A. Edge, daughter, Miss Mary, Miss Louise Fultz and Miss Hewitt.

Miss Veal in her capacity of Deputy Grand Matron, will inspect the Jefferson Chapter.

Mrs. Margaret Colwell, Mrs. Orme Brown, Mrs. C. A. Teeters, Mrs. Wm. Waddell, Mr. and Mrs. John McFadden.

LARGE INCREASE IN BANK DEPOSITS

Statements of the five banking institutions of the city show an increase of some $259,872.80 deposits over the deposits shown by the statements of last year.

The deposits in 1915 were $2,221,231.79, while this year they reached $2,482,104.59.

The deposits as shown by the various bank reports for this year are: Peoples & Drovers, $622,180.33; Midland National, $504,810.20; Commercial, $402,868.19; Fayette County, $372,769.44; The Washington Savings, $318,603.63.

Increase in other bank deposits of the county are expected, although all of the institutions have not yet reported.

ROBBERY IN HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

Burglars recently visited the high school building and made off with equipment valued at nearly $250.

The robbery occurred several nights ago and among the articles stolen were: Remington typewriter No. 388243, cover for machine, Compound Microscope valued at $100; silver trophy cup, camera, pocket knives, pins and other articles.

Entrance was gained through a basement window, and several locks were broken. After a quiet but unsuccessful investigation the matter was turned over to the police Tuesday morning.

CHERRY HILL TAKES GAME FROM OPPONENTS

When the ball game between Cherry Hill and Sunnyside was well under way Monday evening, there was every indication that the Sunnysiders would win with ease, and everything continued in their favor until in the fourth inning when there was a weakening on the part of the pitcher and the score bounded from one to nothing in favor of the Sunnysiders, to 7 to 3 at the close in favor of Cherry Hill.

From the fourth inning onward Sunnyside's pitcher was hammered almost at will, and the tide was quickly turned, much to the sorrow of the plucky Sunnysiders. Beckel and Turner umpired the game.

WARNING AGAINST YOUTHFUL BEGGARS

It has come to the attention of the Welfare Association that several lads dressed in rags, have been soliciting old clothing from citizens generally, taking the old clothing to dispose of for a few cents and continuing to wear their threadbare garments for the purpose of begging.

The Welfare Association wishes to public to report, immediately, cases where children apply for old clothing so that their cases may be investigated, and if found worthy, they will be given proper attention. If found to be begging for profit, other means will be employed to deal with the case.

Old clothing of all kinds will be received by the Welfare Association for proper distribution among the needy.

TEAMSTERS STRIKE ON PAINT STREET

Teamsters employed by Heffner & Son, on the Paint street excavating job, went on a strike Monday for higher wages, and their demands being refused, they were still out Tuesday.

Meanwhile the steam shovel has remained idle. It is understood other teamsters will be obtained and the work started with as little delay as possible.

The wagons used, of a special dump pattern, belong to Heffner & Son.

PLEASED WITH IMPERIAL STAFF

The superb work of the Imperial Degree Staff of this city before 500 Odd Fellows of London and neighboring towns, Monday night, brought forth the usual shower of compliments, and all agreed that the work was far in advance of anything they had ever witnessed in that line.

The trip was made by automobile with no serious mishaps, and the 100 Odd Fellows of this city returned shortly after midnight, after a most enjoyable evening with the Londoners.

At six o'clock the Rebekahs served an elaborate banquet to the members of the lodge from this city, and when the work opened at eight o'clock a large number of Odd Fellows could not gain admittance owing to smallness of the lodge room, which also handicapped the big staff in its work. However, the handicap was not serious and the staff did its best. Capt. H. D. Chaffin, Robert McLean and Water Springer, who carry the heavy parts, never doing their work better.

Following the work the staff, at the request of the Rebekahs, gave a drill which evoked much applause.

INCONVENIENCE DUE TO WATER CUT OFF

A great deal of inconvenience and annoyance resulted throughout the city Monday, due to the entire water supply being cut off from 11:30 to after four o'clock.

Announcement was made by the company that the water would be shut off at 12:30, but the actual cut-off was made one hour earlier and as a consequence scores if not hundreds of persons who intended obtaining a supply to tide over the cut-off found they could obtain no water when wanted.

As a result of the general shut-off and thorough riling up of the water in the mains, a great many citizens were demanding why it was that when one connection is made on the mains that the company did not have proper valvular equipment at frequent intervals to shut off a small section instead of the entire city.

Aside from the inconvenience, it was pointed out, fire dangers are unnecessarily great on such occasions.

Council may take the matter up and ask for relief.

LOCAL BOY TO RECEIVE DIPLOMA

Kenneth Kerr, youngest son of Mrs. Josephine Kerr, graduates from the Wilmington high school at the annual commencement this week. He has made an excellent record in his year's study, as well as being one of the most popular members of the class.

Young Kerr takes a leading role in the class play, "The Girl From Upper Seven," which is put on tonight.

The Wilmington Board of Education has two feminine members, which is quite out of the ordinary, Dr. Elizabeth Shrieves, who frequently visits at the Brownell home in this city, is one of them.

CLAIM AMPLE FUNDS FOR THIRD OFFICER

Taking exceptions to the announcement that the financial condition of the city does not warrant the dropping of the third member of the Washington police force, Councilman Sheets, as member of the Finance Committee of council states that ample funds have been provided for paying the salary of a third member of the police force.

Indications are that the matter will be taken up at an early session of the city council, although Councilman Sheets did not confirm the rumor when asked concerning the same.

BEAUTIFUL STATUE BOUGHT BY FRESHMEN

The Freshman Class of the Washington high school has added to the art treasures another classic statue, "Thalia," muse of comedy.

The statue is of wonderful beauty and grace and, mounted on a pedestal, has been placed in the lower hall. It was purchased with funds from the Freshman Bazaar.

MEETING POSTPONED.

The regular meeting of the Wesley Chapel Mite Society has been postponed for one week and will be held Wednesday, May 24, instead of May 17.

THINGS DOING AT THE MOVIES

COLONIAL.

William Desmond, a new star in the Triangle galaxy, but not the least thereof, assisted by the clever character artist, Jane Lee, leads the action of "The Waifs" Monday and Tuesday, an emotional play whose story is that of a young minister's descent to degradation and destitution through an hereditary taste for liquor and his regeneration, accomplished through Rags, the cabaret "box pounder."

Douglas Fairbanks, who seems endowed with a furnace rather than the customary spark of life, throws his remarkable vitality into "The Habit of Happiness," Thursday-Friday Triangle, with more than the usual vim. In this picture Fairbanks appears as a specialist in the profession of curing the blues.

Wednesday's feature unannounced. Comedies accompanying both features.

PALACE.

"The Ne'er Do Well," a spectacular drama adapted from Rex Beach's famous novel by the Selig Polyscope Co., leads the features at the Palace this week, showing Thursday and Friday. Many of the cast of "The Spoilers," including Kathryn Williams may be seen again in this picture. The film was made in the Panama Canal country and brings the spectator to familiar terms with the big ditch. Wheeler Oakman occupies the title role.

Pretty Vivian Martin is the lead in this week's Fox, Tuesday, "A Modern Thelma."

"The Girl Telegrapher's Nerve" is the promising title of a Kalem thriller with Helen Gibson Wednesday. Rose Melville, in her inimitable Sis Hopkins impersonation, features "A Leap Year Wooing," also Wednesday.

The last end, of course, the best installment of the highly popular "The Girl and the Game" serial will be shown Saturday.

WONDERLAND.

Geraldine Farrar, celebrated prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company famous as the singer and impersonator of the immortal Carmen, appears in Lasky's screen version of the great play at the Wonderland Wednesday—its second time here, returning at the request of Wonderland patrons. Wallace Reid, handsome young film star supports Miss Farrar in the role of Escamillo, the toreador.

Dainty little Marguerite Clarke, whose marvelous artistry and vivacity has captivated the movie public, appears on the Wonderland screen Friday in "Still Waters," a Famous Players' feature concerning the unique adventures of the daughter of a canal boat pilot who runs away and joins a circus.

Tuesday—"Merry Models," Essanay; "The White Light of Publicity," Selig drama.

Thursday—World feature, unannounced.

Saturday—Usual fun program.

PENNSY. OFFICIALS WILL STOP HERE

Division Superintendent F. J. Stimson, Train Master W. W. Varney and other officials of the Pennsylvania railroad will reach this city on a tour of inspection of the road, this evening, and will stop over night at the Cherry Hotel, continuing their trip Wednesday.

The officials will make the trip by small motor driven car.

$200 AND COSTS ARE GIVEN MAN AND WIFE

James and Alice Smith, charged with bootlegging, were jointly fined $200 and the costs, when they appeared before Mayor Oster Monday afternoon, and $50 of the amount was paid in cash with promise to pay the remaining $150 and costs within six months under penalty of working out the remainder in the Xenia workhouse.

HORSE INJURED

In endeavoring to climb through a window opening in a barn, a young horse owned by Mrs. Myrtle McCrea, East street, became fast and for an hour or more, Tuesday morning, hung with its front feet and shoulders through the opening before it could be removed. It suffered sprains and a few cuts and bruises.

TRIANGLE Presents The Waifs

This picture was shown at this theatre last night, and met with the highest approval of all who saw it. Wm. Desmond, who played opposite Billie Burke in "Peggy," is seen in a well-suited role, and his work only marks him stronger as the supreme artist that he is. Jane Grey is also exceptionally pleasing in the part of "A Girl of The Slums."

WALKING FERNS.

These Curious Plants Travel About in a Novel Manner.

Some plants when they get the wanderlust and want to travel send out their seed children fastened to tiny airships or winged kites. Others shoot their seeds like bullets from guns. This one reaches out his foot, takes a long step and travels just like you do when you visit the woods. That's why we call him the walking fern.

His fronds are green and heart shaped. They taper at the ends, and at each tip a bud forms. From this bud a cluster of small fronds and roots develop, dangling from the end of the frond like weight on the end of a spring.

As the cluster grows and gets heavier the top of the frond bends toward the earth. The weight of the rain and dew helps bend until finally the tip touches the earth. There the partially developed roots take hold and start a new plant.

So the fern keeps on walking, sending out new fronds, bending them to the earth and starting new plants. The plants are linked together by the fine, threadlike fronds until instead of one walking fern they have a whole parade.

Unfortunately this interesting plant is more or less rare, although it is a native of the eastern United States. It doesn't thrive well as a cultivated plant, or perhaps we would see more of it.—Philadelphia North American.

FLIGHT OF THE ALBATROSS.

Wing Movements That a Chance Snap With a Camera Revealed.

During the voyage of a vessel from British Columbia to San Francisco the photographic test was applied to a long disputed point in natural history. A large albatross had been following the steamer and keeping pace with it for several hours, and the wonder grew among the watchers on board the ship how the bird was able to fly so swiftly while apparently keeping its wings extended without flapping them. As this is a common method of flight with the albatross, the explanation used to be offered that the bird took advantage of slight winds and air currents, and so able to glide upon what might be called atmospheric slopes.

As the albatross sailed alongside the ship, about fifteen feet away, the naturalist snapped his camera at it and obtained a photograph that astonished him and his fellow passengers.

The photograph revealed, what no eye had caught, the wings of the albatross, each some five feet long, in the act of making a downward stroke. The explanation naturally suggested was that more or less frequently the bird must have made a stroke of this kind with its wings, although the eye could not detect the motion, and that the camera chanced to be snapped at precisely the right moment.—New York Post.

Some Big Trees.

What undoubtedly is the largest deciduous tree now growing in the United States is a sycamore near Worthington, Ind., which at five feet from the ground measures forty-two feet three inches in circumference. Its height is approximately 150 feet. According to local claims, this remarkable specimen is inferior to one long since felled in the same district, which had a girth of sixty-seven feet. A valley oak which measures thirty-seven feet six inches in circumference was the largest nut bearing tree found during a contest. This is situated in San Benito county, Cal., and reaches to a height of 125 feet. In a good season it bears a ton of acorns. America's largest elm seems to be "the great elm" at Wetherfield, Conn., which at the base has a circumference of over fifty feet. It is supposed to be about 250 years old.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

A naturalist who has traveled in the East Indies says: "The effect on the monkeys of man's appearance is most interesting. The expression of their emotions is certainly almost human as they sit and stare at him, coughing and snarling with anger and contempt, drawing back their heads and throwing the hand before the face with a gesture of abhorrence and other movements indicative of shocked and outraged feelings. But predominant is the expression of absolute horror, which, coming from those we consider our still degraded cousins, is to our superiority very aggravating."

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Miller entertained twenty-four little girls and boys Saturday afternoon from two to four in honor of their little granddaughter, Frances McCoy, it being her tenth birthday.

The children enjoyed themselves greatly trying to ring the bell in the hoop, Ethel Blackburn winning the prize.

Grace Johnson won the prize for making the fastest trip carrying the lemon.

The table was beautifully decorated with a birthday cake blazing with ten candles, and favors were pink and white baskets of candy. A pink and white color scheme was carried out in decoration and menu.

Mrs. Miller was assisted by Mrs. F. W. Jacobs in entertaining the little folks who were:

"MOTHERS' DAY" HONORED IN HOME

"Sunny Side Farm," the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilson, was the scene of an affair altogether distinctive and out of the ordinary in its pleasure Sunday; a surprise in honor of Mothers' Day, given for Mrs. W. W. Wilson and Mr. Wilson's mother, Mrs. Martha Wilson, by Mr. Wilson and children, Mrs. E. C. McCoy, Messrs. Marion, Willard, Everett and Horatio.

The observance of Mothers' Day as carried out in the home was a tender tribute to both the mother and the grandmother, who is past eighty-one years old, but as interested as ever in the activities of her progeny and the constant recipient of their warm affection.

Everything planned by Mr. Wilson and children was marked by success, and forty members of the family found hospitable welcome and enjoyed visiting in the complete surprise of the occasion.

Mrs. Martha Wilson had been taken home after Sunday school for dinner, neither she nor Mrs. W. W. Wilson anticipating anything out of the ordinary.

The house had been prettily decorated with red and white carnations and greenery and Mrs. W. W. Wilson presented with a lovely basket of carnations, while Mrs. Martha Wilson received potted plants and both other gifts.

The guests brought a basket dinner that contained everything to be concocted in the line of delicious viands and the table was a picture with scarlet table runner, scarlet candles and the bright flowers.

After the dinner an affecting program of songs, readings and piano numbers was given. Especially beautiful was a "Tribute to Mother," by Mrs. E. C. McCoy, who voiced eloquently the honor and affection which the word "Mother" inspires. "I Love You Mother" was a particularly touching reading by Miss Dorothy McCoy.

The day was rounded out till twilight in family pleasure, the only shadow which darkened the day the recent loss of the daughter and sister, Mrs. Bert Chaffin.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wilson and Mrs. Martha Wilson, there were present:

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cox, daughter Florence; Mr. and Mrs. Elba Wilson, daughter, Mrs. Grace McCoy and children Harry, Lillian, Marion, Willard and Martha; Mr. Bert Chaffin and son Carl; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Smith of Leesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Foster, son Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McCoy and children Wilby, Dorothy and Helen; Mr. and Mrs. Marion Wilson and children Marjorie, Elmo, Elizabeth, Woodrow, Esther, Robert; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Wilson; Mr. Horatio Wilson; Miss Luvy Myers.

REDSKINS WIN

The Carlisle Indian tourists Monday afternoon defeated the Athletics here, 16 to 4. A bare handful of fans saw the game.

The local team contained many subs, owing to the inability of most of the regulars to leave their occupations, and the same fact was responsible for the small attendance. A fair crowd saw the novel night-ball game played under arc lights in the evening.

FAITH IN DIVINING ROD.

Treasure Hunter Says "Tip" Is Right and Keeps on Digging.

Shreveport, La.—Having discovered evidence of what he believes is buried treasure or a gold mine on a piece of ground on Fairfield avenue and owned by Dr. J. M. Comegys in the most exclusive residence district of the city, a Shreveport contractor named Farmer spent all day and part of a night digging in the plot for hidden wealth.

Farmer claims he was led to the spot by a divining rod, and he further maintains that his divining rod hasn't played him false because it leads him to the exact spot every time he moves.

Farmer, with the assistance of three negro helpers, labored far into the night in search of the treasure or mine or whatever it is, and spadeful after spadeful of dirt had been removed without results. Late bulletins from the scene indicated that no treasure had been disclosed as yet, though the hole measured four feet deep and as many feet in width when the search was concluded temporarily.

Shreveport is too far inland to have been the haunt of Captain Kidd or any other of our well known pirates, and the next best guess is that it is a gold mine. Farmer won't quit until he is either convinced to his own satisfaction that his divining rod has pulled a "bone" or that there is really a treasure at the spot.

BIG ROOSTER CRIPPLES MAN.

Resents Intrusion of Angler, Who Was Crossing Barnyard.

Pendleton, Ore.—L. A. McClintock, local implement dealer, is among the wounded and helpless as a result of an encounter with an angry rooster.

While he was crossing through a barnyard near the Purish dam, enroute to the river with an angling outfit, a big Buff Cochon rooster, resenting the intrusion, flew at him. Unable to pierce his rubber boots with its beak, the rooster jumped into the air and drove his spurs home just above McClintock's knee, one on each side.

The spurs struck a tendon and crippled him. He was helped to an auto and brought home.

naming the Aegean Sea.

The Aegean sea is remarkable among the seas of the world for the obscurity in which the origin of its name is involved. Even the ancients could not give a certain answer on the point. A popular view was that it was named after Aegeus, the father of Theseus, who threw himself into it when his son forgot to hoist the white sail upon his return from Crete as a signal that he had slain the Minotaur. But others derived the name from Aegea, a queen of the Amazons, who also perished in this sea; others from the town of Aegea, in Euboea (Negropont), and a fourth theory traced it to the word "aiges," goats, which the islands of the archipelago were fancifully thought to resemble.

BUILDING COLLAPSE MANY DIE

Tons of Debris Overwhelm Crowd In Restaurant.

AKRON SCENE OF DISASTER

Blast of Dynamite In Adjoining Excavation Weakens Foundation of Structure Which Quickly Collapsed. Ten Persons Killed and a Score Injured, Several Fatally—Story of the Accident.

Akron, O., May 16.—As a result of a blast which wrecked the Crystal restaurant here last night, ten or more persons are dead and more than a score injured.

A tremendous roar, echoing the screams of dying people, brought thousands to the scene of the disaster, in the heart of Akron's business district. Instantly the entire city, rallying under the shock, plunged to the work of rescue.

A great pile of ruins, broken timbers, twisted steel and tons of brick and mortar, buried the victims, who a moment before were dining in the restaurant housed in the old "Beacon Journal" building.

Seven bodies were taken out of the wreckage after firemen and police and volunteer rescuers had worked frantically, digging and chopping through the debris. Several more bodies were immediately taken to the county morgue, where efforts were made to identify them.

Nineteen more, many of them fatally injured, were extricated and sent to the City and People's hospitals. Two or three of the others known to have been in the restaurant succeeded in escaping. Rescuers dug for several hours in the belief that others were still buried in the ruins.

George Serris, who, with his brother, Augustus Serris, owned the restaurant, escaped from the kitchen of the collapsing structure, together with a cook and two dishwashers, but all were injured by falling bricks.

A blast of dynamite set off in an excavation for a new building directly north of the restaurant unsettled the foundations. The restaurant was a one-story structure, with a two-story false front, and the latter, toppling backward, added a weight of several tons to the falling roof.

The crash came when the restaurant was crowded. So suddenly did the building cave in and walls crumble that those who were not instantly killed were rendered unconscious. Not a cry nor a moan was heard from the wreckage after the first shrill screams of women and hoarse cries of men founded the warning that was too late to save their own lives.

The Victims.

The dead: William C. Lawson and Mary Lawson, five, his daughter, Akron; Rev. D. S. Thomas, Cumberland, Md.; Blanche Kline, twenty-six, Mansfield; C. A. Tompkins, Cincinnati; Mrs. Ed Gallup, Cambridge; Dorothy Kenyon, twenty-one, Western Union operator, Akron; Mildred Weldon, eighteen, waitress, Wadsworth; H. W. Rarey, Akron, and one girl not identified.

Dr. Menthorne, John Seabright of Steubenville and E. R. Beckley of Wheeling are among the more seriously injured.

William C. Lawson and daughter were crushed to death while seated at a table. Mrs. Lawson miraculously escaped.

Paul Zerbe, a shoe salesman, said: "Our first warning of disaster was the cracking of the big plate-glass window facing on Main street. It sounded like the report of a pistol and everybody's attention was attracted. Probably two minutes elapsed, and there was laughing and joking among the diners about the sudden shattering of the window. Suddenly there was heard an even louder report and the glass cracked again, in another place. It seemed to hang there, and then the next moment the whole window fell out on the sidewalk in a thousand pieces. I saw several people get up to look. Then, before anybody could conjecture the possibility of the building being in danger, the ceiling fell upon us. The walls crumbled. I felt a blow on the head and I could feel myself sinking, but I did not lose consciousness. I found myself weighted down by tons of debris. I could just barely see a speck of daylight. Then in a few minutes I heard sounds of chopping, and presently I was taken out."

Three weeks ago a blast set off within four feet of the Strand theater, just north of the excavation, tore through the ten inch walls and endangered the lives of three score persons. A short investigation followed, but was dropped on a promise of contractors not to do any more blasting near that building. Four blasts in quick succession caused the collapse of the restaurant building.

CLAIM SUCCESS

(By American Press)

London, May 16.—The French in the Meuse hills, to the east of Verdun, in a surprise attack, have cleared the Germans from trenches over a front of about 200 yards, and also have put down in Champagne several German attacks. Bombardments alone are taking place around Verdun.

Along the British line in France bombardments and sapping operations are being carried on at various points. East of the Loos the Germans succeeded in gaining a footing in British trenches, but were able to hold them only a few minutes under a counter attack.

The Italians in the Monte Adamello zone have succeeded in occupying positions in the sector between Crozon di Gargorida and Crozzon de Lares, which are of great strategic value in their movement against Trent. The Italians also have made further progress against the Austrians on Mount Sperrone.

In the Caucasus region the Russians are continuing their advance against the Turks, according to Petrograd.

IN LIEU OF SENATE MEASURE

Rural Credits Measure Put Through the House.

Washington, May 16.—By a vote of 295 to 10 the house passed its substitute for the senate rural credits bill, making possible the establishment of a system of farm credits. In general characteristics the house and senate measures are similar, but the measure in the final form in which it will be submitted to both houses will be largely rewritten by the conference committee.

The house bill provides for the establishment of twelve federal banks, with a minimum capital of $750,000 each. The management of the entire system is entrusted to the management of a farm loan board of three members, and each of the banks is to be in charge of nine directors, three of whom are to be selected by the farm loan board and six by the national farm loan associations.

The banks are to make loans to farmers through local associations of borrowers, ten or more of whom may form an association. When a farmer desires to make a loan he enters into a membership of a local association. His loan is passed on by the loan committee of the association and must be approved by the local board of directors, a land bank appraiser and the land bank directors.

To raise the money to be issued in the form of loans to the farmers the land banks are permitted to issue farm loan bonds in series of not less than $50,000 each. The interest rate upon the mortgage loan shall not in any case exceed 6 per cent. The mortgages may run from five to thirty-six years.

GETTING WORSE

(By American Press)

Washington, May 16.—It now appears practically certain that the issue over the nomination of Louis D. Brandeis to the supreme court of the United States is to be fought out in the senate, without recommendation from the judiciary committee, which has considered and investigated the case for more than three months. It was reported after a protracted session of the judiciary committee that a favorable report on the Brandeis nomination could not be agreed upon, and that several Democratic senators who did not wish to vote for such a report would support a motion to return the nomination to the senate without recommendation.

MINORITY MAY MAKE REPORT

Amusement Problem May Go
Before Conference.

Saratoga, N. Y., May 16.—An attempt by Chancellor James R. Day of Syracuse university and other members of the general conference to secure the elimination of the clause which prohibits Methodist church members from playing cards, dancing and theater-going failed when the committee on the state of the church decided by a vote of 113 to 43 to recommend to the conference the retention of the rule.

The impression was given that the leaders for a freer interpretation of the rule will shift their fight to the conference and will submit a minority report. It is probable that the delegates will be requested to decide the question before the end of the week.

The conference debated the question of the high cost of bishops. When the committee on episcopacy reported it asked that seven new bishops be chosen, six of whom to be for work in this country and one at Seoul, Korea. An effort was immediately made to reduce the number to five, on the ground that the present occupants of the episcopacy are not overburdened with work, and that the members of the churches throughout Methodism are protesting against the expense of maintaining the episcopal offices.

TRIBE NOW DEAD.

Ishi, Noted Aborigine, Succumbs
to White Plague.

ORIGIN MADE HIM FAMOUS.

Shown as Survivor of Last Tribe of Deer Creek Indians of Yano Line.
Lived on Victims of His Bow and Arrow.

San Francisco.—Ishi has been gathered to the land of his fathers. Last of the Deer Creek Indians, tribe of Yano, Ishi has gone to the happy hunting grounds. He died at the University of California hospital, a victim of the "white plague," disease of the paleface.

For several months the aborigine, who was captured in the wilds of northern Butte county in the summer of 1911, had been in ill health. A year ago he developed acute lung trouble, and at times he suffered greatly, bearing his pain with the stoicism of his kind.

Just a few minutes before he passed away Ishi joked with Curator Gifford of the affiliated colleges. At that time he was in agony. Final relief came with a hemorrhage.

Ishi, who never had seen any money of the white man until he was brought into civilization, left what he considered a fortune in worldly goods—about $350 and personal effects. With the common desire of all California Indians, Ishi labored to accumulate wealth. Unlike the members of most tribes, whose standing is rated by what they give away, Ishi, with the characteristics of California and British Columbia Indians, hoarded his pennies, which he earned in various ways. His estate was taken in charge by the public administrator.

Ishi, living the life of a savage in Butte county, stole a calf in the summer of 1911, and officers of the law ran him down. They were amazed to discover the thief was a primitive creature, clad in animal skins and armed only with a bow and arrow. The prisoner was taken to the Butte county jail, and it was there that T. T. Waterman, assistant professor in anthropology, pronounced him to be the only surviving member of the lost tribe of Deer Creek Indians of the Yano line.

The scientific world was greatly interested in Professor Waterman's announcement, and Ishi became famous. He was brought to this city and lodged at the affiliated colleges on Sept. 4, 1911. After months of patient effort Professor Waterman was able to talk with Ishi. What he learned from the captive left no doubt in his mind that Ishi really was the last of the savage tribe of Deer Creek.

Ishi adapted himself to the ways of the white man. He built himself a home on the grounds of the affiliated colleges, where he was the object of much curiosity. He attended lectures by Professor Waterman and other savants of the State university.

In May, 1914, Ishi took Dr. A. L. Kroeber, head of the affiliated colleges museum, and Dr. Saxton T. Pope to Butte and showed them his former haunts, reverting to his skins and bows and arrows. The report of Dr. Koeber and Dr. Pope confirmed the belief of Ishi's descent.

The GIRL and the GAME

A Story of Mountain Railroad Life

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

AUTHOR OF "WHISPERING SMITH," "THE MOUNTAIN DIVIDE," "STRATEGY OF GREAT RAILROADS," ETC.

NOVELIZED FROM THE MOVING PICTURE PLAY OF THE SAME NAME. PRODUCED BY THE SIGNAL FILM CORPORATION.

SYNOPSIS.

Little Helen Holmes, daughter of General Holmes, railroad man, is rescued from imminent danger on a scenic railroad by George Storm, a newsboy. Grown to young womanhood, Helen saves Storm, now a fireman, her father, and his friends, Amos Rhinelander, financier, and Robert Seagrue, promoter, from a threatened collision. Safebreakers employed by Seagrue steal General Holmes' survey plans of the cut off line for the Tidewater, finally wound the general and escape. Her father's estate badly involved by his death, Helen goes to work on the Tidewater. Helen recovers the survey plans from Seagrue, and though they are taken from her, finds an accidentally made proof of the survey blueprint. Storm is employed by Rhinelander. Spike, befriended by Helen, in his turn saves her and the right-of-way contracts when Seagrue kidnaps her. Helen and Storm win for Rhinelander a race against Seagrue for right-of-way. Helen, Storm and Rhinelander rescue Spike from Seagrue's men. Spike steals records to protect Rhinelander, and Storm and Helen save Spike from death in the burning courthouse. Vein in Superstition mine pinches out. Seagrue sues it and sells it to Rhinelander. The mine is relocated. Rhinelander gives Helen and George each one-third of the Superstition mine stock. Seagrue's scheme to prevent payment for the mine is spoiled. Helen, restored to home and social position, saves her departing guests from a threatened collision by a wild ride.

"You know," she said, looking up after she had given it a few more taps, "that part of the agreement is, George must finish this."

Storm took hold of the maul with a smile. "For a man that's driven a maul as many miles as I have, this ought to be easy."

Friends crowded up as the spike went home and congratulations fell thick and fast on the winners of the long-drawn struggle. Rhinelander still had something to propose. "While we are all here together," he said, "we'll complete the celebration by starting the first train. I want to see whether Miss Holmes and Mr. Storm can drive a spike that will hold a rail joint for an engine to run over it. If it fails, it shows them both up. Throw the switch for the main line, George, and let Helen start the first train over the cut-off."

Storm walked toward the switch, some distance away, followed by Spike. Standing together they threw it and signaled that all was right.

Helen, quite at home inside an engine cab, pulled the throttle slightly and the drivers began to revolve; the engineer then handed her carefully down from the gangway and the train started.

At the switch, Spike and Storm engaged thus intently, failed to notice two men creeping up behind them, ropes in hand. Taken unawares, nooses were thrown suddenly over their heads and before they could make the least defense, they were throttled, felled and dragged back from the switch. So swiftly and expertly was the attack made that Spike and Storm were choked almost at once and dragged down out of sight before anyone noticed their disappearance.

Tying their hands expeditiously, Ward speculated for a moment on what to do with them. Adams' proposal to throw them from the bridge he negated. "They would find them too quick. We'll put them into the ore cars," he said cunningly. "When the cars are located at the mine the ore will do the rest."

The two picked Storm up, unconscious, and carried him along the track, laying him beside it to await the coming of the freight train. Returning to bring Spike in like fashion, they were surprised and upset to find he had disappeared.

Spike had, in fact—overhearing the fate in store for him—rolled, gagged and bound as he was, along the track to the bridge below. Gaining this, he continued to roll over and tried to drop out of sight underneath. But in getting down, helpless as he was, his hands caught by the rope with which he was fastened on the head of a projecting spike and instead of dropping to where he speedily could have hidden himself, he hung quite helpless in the air suspended by his wrists.

The ore train, meantime, had come along the mine spur and Ward and Adams, watching their opportunity, flung Storm into a gondola.

"We've got to get after Spike," declared Ward, now alarmed for the safety of himself and his companion.

Indeed, Spike was having a close call for his life in more than one direction. A single slender chance gave him hope of escape. The cord with which his hands had been bound, he thought, might be sawed in two on the spike against which it had caught. Acting on this thought, he threw himself from side to side to saw the cord against the iron. In spite of the intense pain suffered in sustaining the entire weight of his body on the thong that bound his wrists, he kept desperately busy in the hope of releasing himself before his captors should return. For he had no doubt that Ward, as assistant director, would not hesitate to kill him on sight. With a resource and cunning developed through a long career of doubtful enterprises and close squeaks—Spike struggled wildly for freedom and life, and thus engaged he heard the footsteps of men running along the track.

This might mean help; it might mean a knock on the head. There was but a moment left to effect his escape. Jerking himself convulsively, arms, legs and body—the cord cutting, and saving every moment into the quick around his wrists—he threw such a force on the rope that the strands finally parted on the sharp iron face and Spike dropped exhausted to the ground. But he had hardly struck it before he rolled, bounced and scrambled away into hiding.

It was none too soon. Ward and Adams, searching with sharp eyes every place of concealment, came on. Their hurry, however, was too great, and the very place where they should have looked, they passed. Even before they were well out of the way, Spike had released his feet and gaining the track was running at full speed back to where Helen was waiting, beside the Special with her friends.

These latter saw a bareheaded man dashing down the track, waving his arms.

ROBBER THANKS VICTIM.

Sends Back Keepsake and Keeps $500 He Stole From St. Louis Resident.

St. Louis.—The thief who robbed the home of L. L. Whittemore of jewelry valued at $500 mailed a letter to the family. Inclosed was a miniature pair of opera glasses, used as a watch charm. His letter reads:

To Whom It May Concern.—Very sorry to take this little keepsake. Thank you for the other articles. With best wishes.

AN OUTCAST

Fish Makes Long Swim.

London.—A salmon which had been marked and returned to the water at Kintadue, north of Inverness, Sutherlandshire, was caught fifteen days afterward on the Aberdeenshire coast. The minimum distance covered by the fish was 140 miles, and it had lost one and one-half pounds in weight between the date of marking and its recapture.

LOADS OF LETTERS FOR GIRL

She Wanted a Husband, But the Misses Wanted No Not Find Her.

Seaford, Del.—The rural mail wagon driven by Frank Wheatley from the local postoffice is heavily laden with undelivered mail, and for many miles around this section of the peninsula persons are trying to find Miss Ethel R. Sweeney, a young woman to whom the mail is addressed.

Recently Miss Sweeney wrote to Mayor Price of Wilmington, beseeching him to find a husband for a "lonely country girl," and gave her address as Concord, Del. Concord is situated about three miles east of here, and the notoriety given the place by the young woman has caused old residents to treat strangers coolly.

Loads of letters are arriving here for the "lonely girl," and although a thorough search has been made for her, as yet all efforts have failed.

FIND 20 INDIAN SKELETONS.

Supposition That They Were Buried Near Where They Fell in Battle.

Oregon City, Ore.—While excavating for a basement near the river bank workmen employed by Frank Busch uncovered twenty skeletons of Indians in one hole.

The bodies are supposed to be the remains of Indians killed in battle, for in one or two cases arrowheads have been found caught between the bones.

The first trace of the bones was found early in the week, when the workmen uncovered a skull. It was buried by itself, and Mr. Busch, who had studied the find carefully, believes that it belonged to a chief or leader.

To prevent disturbing the bones the workmen began excavating in another place, and they found a hole with a radius of about six feet which Mr. Busch estimates contains the bones of at least twenty Indians. The skeletons are lying like the spokes of a wheel with the skulls in the center. Over the top of the grave was a thick, hard crust of baked clay that was hardened like stone.

EGG OF PET PARROT.

After Much Treatment Opal Finally Lays One.

Riverside, Cal.—The hurried administration of red pepper pills under the orders of a veterinarian and the hurried application of hot flannel cloths and other family remedies, all designed to save the life of Opal, the pet white parrot at the Mission Inn, occasioned great excitement among the patrons of that hostelry.

Frank A. Miller, master of the inn, took personal care of the bird, which was found to be writhing in seeming paroxysms of pain and making the air vocal with squawks. After submitting to the sympathetic treatment of its friends for a time the bird calmly laid an egg. Opal's first achievement along this line, although she is twenty years old.

ABLE TO SHOE HORSE AT 90.

Aged Blacksmith Kept Vow Made Years Ago.

Parnell, Mo.—Josiah Collins of this place celebrated his ninetieth birthday recently, and to keep a vow that he had frequently made, he went to the blacksmith shop on his anniversary and shod a horse.

Mr. Collins, who is a native of Ohio, began his trade when he was nineteen years old. He has followed the blacksmithing business all his life and has often declared that, if he lived, he would shoe a horse or mule on his ninetieth birthday, no matter how unready the animal might be. He kept his vow and was much pleased again to perform the familiar task.

Matter of Sentiment.

"What makes you go in through the kitchen?" "I don't know your servants very well," replied Mr. Cumrox. "Some way, the front hall seems kind of formal and distant. Around at the kitchen steps they've got an old doormat with 'Welcome' on it."—Washington Star.

CITES U. S. GROWTH

Uncle Joe Cannon Tells of Some Changes in Forty-four Years.

SHOWS AGE IS NO HANDICAP.

Says Uncle Sam Is Two and One-half Times Bigger Than When He Broke Into Congress—Has Retained Subtleness Despite His Eighty Years.

Washington.—Reclining on the sofa in his office just off the chamber of the house of representatives, his well known cigar at the proper angle in his mouth, Uncle Joe Cannon, who recently celebrated his eightieth birthday, told a correspondent on that occasion of some of the changes which have occurred in the United States during the forty-four years he has been in public life, forty of which have been spent in congress.

Taking his cigar out of his mouth, Uncle Joe squinted at the end of it a moment, and then, replacing it most carefully at its accustomed angle, he said:

"I suppose you want to know something about the changes which have taken place since I first entered congress back in 1873. Why, my boy, the changes have been like those of an infant growing into a stalwart man or a sapling into a tree.

UNCLE JOE CANNON.

"Uncle Sam is two and a half times as big as he was when I broke into congress. I mean by that in physical stature as measured by population. In other ways the country has multiplied four, five and even ten times.

"We had thirty-seven states and less than 40,000,000 population when I came to congress. We now have forty-eight states and 100,000,000 population at home, with ten or fifteen millions more in Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines. Our total wealth then was given at $24,000,000,000, gold basis, or $30,000,000,000 currency, but now it is $187,000,000,000, without any distinction as to the unit of measure.

"This enormous wealth is not in Wall street or within a thousand miles of it. It is not gathered into banks or trust companies, but is scattered over the broad land—the prairies, the plains and the mountains as well as in the factories and commercial centers. In fact, there is more of this wealth west of the Mississippi river than in New York and New England combined. So you can see that Uncle Sam has grown, and it has been something of a job for congress to keep up with the development of the country."

"What do you think has been congress' most far-reaching act during this period?"

"I would hardly call it an act. I would call it a discovery," replied Uncle Joe. "It was the discovery of the general welfare clause of the constitution. We used to have long constitutional arguments against any kind of internal improvements by the federal government, but now we just read the general welfare clause of that old document and appropriate money for any scheme that may be proposed.

"This change of sentiment is pretty general, but it is marked in the delegations from the south."

The correspondent met with this answer when he mentioned legislation: "I am not going to discuss politics."

Getting up from the couch, he stretched his arms, and then, just to show he is eighty years young, Uncle Joe kicked as high as his chin.

"Can you do that, young man?" he asked. And then in reply he said: "No, and there aren't ten other men in the house who can."

The correspondent expressed the belief that when a person reached the fourscore milestone it was time to take it easy, and Uncle Joe replied:

"Well, I do take it easy. I'm entitled to it, am I not? I have things just about as fine as any man could wish. I have lots of friends, no enemies that I know of, and lots of hope and ambition."

Although he has been mixed up in every great political fight since the election of Lincoln in 1860, Uncle Joe declined to discuss politics in the concrete.

"It would be hardly fitting," he said. "People insist I am a partisan. I am a Republican, but this isn't a time for me to talk party politics. My friends are in all of the parties."

KILL 2,000 RABBITS IN DRIVE.

California Farmers Wreak Vengeance on Field Pests.

Stockton, Cal.—It is estimated 2,000 Jack rabbits were killed in the south San Joaquin district and at least one coyote met his fate in the rabbit drive held by the south San Joaquin farmers under the direction of Ed Powers of Manteca and county farm bureau officials.

Hunters from all parts of the country gathered in the south San Joaquin during the morning, and when the chase started at 9:30 o'clock there were more than 400 shotguns pointed out toward the hiding places of the long legged jacks.

The march on the rabbits lasted from 9:30 in the morning until after 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and during the afternoon hundreds of automobile parties visited that part of the country to see the huntsmen and others gathering up the slain field pests.

ORPET TRIAL GRIND SLOWLY

Defendant's Attorneys Seek to Obtain Letters Written By Accused to Murdered Girl.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Chicago, May 16.—Examination of veniemen in the trial of William H. Orpet, Wisconsin University student charged with the murder of Marian Lambert, Lake Forest high school girl, last February, was continued today at Waukegan.

Three men were tentatively accepted as jurors yesterday, the first day of the trial.

Judge Charles H. Donnelly, before whom the case is being tried, expects to decide today whether Orpet's lawyers can examine sixty letters which passed between him and Miss Lambert.

Counsel for Orpet sought to obtain access to the letters.

Orpet's counsel contended that he should be permitted to read the letters before they were placed in evidence.

The letters will prove important elements in the case, it is predicted.

Nelson's Message.

In a book called "National Humor" a serious footnote states that Nelson's celebrated message, "England expects each man to do his duty," was phrased by the famous admiral as "Nelson expects," etc., and that one of his officers suggested the change of the first word to "England." Nelson's greatness was evident in his immediate acceptance of the change. A smaller man would have felt insulted at the proposed elimination of his own name.

$500 FOR OLD KINDNESS.

Sedalia (Mo.) Woman Was Good to an Orphan and He Repays Her.
Sedalia, Mo.—Mrs. J. T. Albertson, wife of a Sedalia painter, has received a check for $500 from Daniel C. Jacklin of San Francisco as a recognition of kindness extended to him years ago when as an orphan he worked on the Albertson farm near here.

Jacklin was left penniless when his parents died, but he worked his way through the Warrensburg Normal school and the Rolla School of Mines. He then went west and as a mining engineer has accumulated wealth.

His earnings run into the thousands yearly, and he receives large dividends from eighteen mining corporations in which he is a stockholder. He wants Mr. and Mrs. Albertson to join him on an eastern trip.

DIDN'T BELIEVE SIGN.

Got $50 From Box That Bore Notice It Contained No Money.
Fresno, Cal.—"This safe is not locked and does not contain any money. Please do not blow it up."

This sign greeted a burglar in a store at Parlier. He opened the safe door, however, and found $50. Then he went across the street and broke into the store conducted by E. J. Moncrief. He found a strong and substantial strong box. It was locked. The burglar carried the strong box to an empty box car, pried it open and found some unsigned checks and a copper cent.

WEDS LOSER OF PHOTO.

Planter Traveled Throughout Middle West Six Months Seeking Ideal.
Hudsonville, Mich.—George N. Howard, a planter of Birmingham, Ala., found a handbag on the Panama-Pacific exposition grounds at San Francisco last September. The bag contained the photograph of a young woman. On the picture was written the name "Wisconsin."

Howard fell in love and for six months traveled throughout the middle west seeking his ideal. He found her here.

The bride was Miss Nettie Telsma of Oshkosh, Wis.

RELATIVES IN LAW.

A Little Advice That May Help to Make Things Pleasant.

If I were giving counsel to the husband and wife who would make each other happy and hold each other's love I would suggest that neither call the attention of the other to the disagreeable qualities of the family of either.

"My husband loves my people as if they were his own," a wife told me. "It makes me so happy!"

I doubt if he did love her people very dearly, but he overlooked those characteristics which a more selfish man would have resented. If it was what a schoolboy would call a "bluff" it was a gloriously unselfish one.

Most of us can stand the tempers and idiosyncrasies of our own when we alone have to bear them. It is when we see them through the eyes of a third person that they become unendurable. That is perhaps one reason why so few roofs are large enough to cover two families.

If each "in-law" exercised toward the members of the household into which he or she married the same pardoning love that is exercised toward one's own the aspersions cast upon the mother-in-law would die a natural death because they would have nothing on which to feed.—Virginia Terhune Van de Water in Mother's Magazine.

WHIRLIGIG BEETLES.

These Four Eyed, Six Legged Creatures Are Expert Swimmers.

More than likely you have watched him skating in "figures 8's" and all sorts of elaborate designs in quiet pools along a stream or on the edge of a lake. He will turn this way and that, describing one graceful curve after another, and then dart off in a straight line when he's frightened. He's speedy, as well as graceful. He's the whirligig beetle.

He has six legs, two longer ones in front and two pairs of short, flat paddles behind. These paddles make him an expert swimmer. His front legs, stretched out, look like arms.

Nature was also generous in giving him two pairs of eyes. With one pair he looks at objects on top of the water, and with the other pair he keeps watch for preying fish below.

There are something less than 300 species of whirligig beetles and they're scattered in all parts of the world. All summer you'll see their shiny bodies skating in spiral tracks and in curves on the surface of pools and sluggish streams. — Philadelphia North American.

Choate and the Green Bag.

Very few of our lawyers carry the green bags which were once a badge of that profession.

"I think the sight of such a bag once kept Joseph H. Choate from coming to Philadelphia to make a speech," Mr. Conlen said.

Mr. Conlen and another lawyer had gone to New York to invite the ex-ambassador to England to deliver an address in Philadelphia. Mr. Conlen's companion carried a green bag, which he laid upon Mr. Choate's table, evidently to the great lawyer's annoyance.

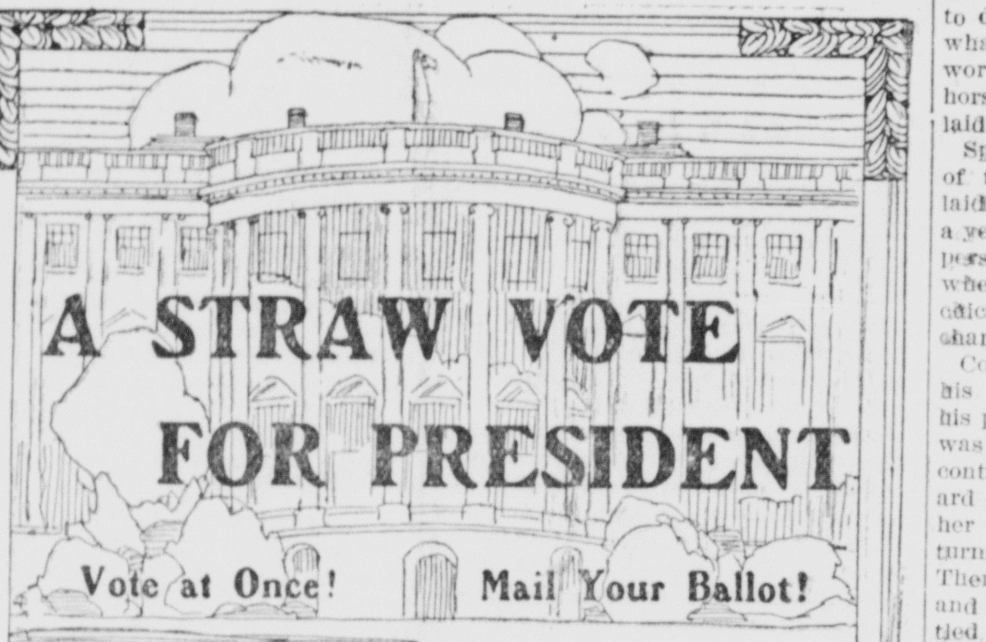

"What do you carry in that thing?" he asked.

"I have some law books," the young Philadelphia attorney replied.

"When I was a young lawyer," Mr. Choate said rather coldly, "I was taught to carry my law in my head."

And the invitation was declined. — Philadelphia Ledger

HEN 29 YEARS OLD LAYS EGG.

Spanish Annie Breaks All Records, Delighting Her Owner.

Hartford.—Spanish Annie, the grand old hen of twenty-nine years (duly authenticated), owned by Colonel James Blanchard of Dayville, is quite content to die because recently she performed what is probably her last labor in this world, something beyond "all the king's horses and all the king's men." For she laid a nice brown egg.

Spanish Annie, called because she is of the black Spanish variety, hasn't laid an egg in years. However, within a year she got her name in the newspapers and her picture in many of them when she hatched out a fine brood of chickens and was hailed as the world's champion Biddy.

Colonel Blanchard, who is proud of his famous hen, has discovered from his poultry records that Spanish Annie was hatched July 4, 1887, and for years contributed generously to the Blanchard daily egg supply. Some years ago her shiny jet black feathers began turning white and her eggs were fewer. Then she lost her quick, dashing gait, and at present her feathers are a mottled gray.

Spanish Annie made no particular commotion after laying her egg, but her happy owner arranged a special feed for her.

PEARL 5,000,000 YEARS OLD.

Found on the Seacoast and Sent to Stanford University.

Stanford University, California.—A pearl estimated to have been formed 5,000,000 years ago and to be the oldest specimen of its kind in the world was found by Stanley C. Herold, a Stanford student, six months ago. The pearl will be presented to the Stanford museum.

The pearl and the cockleshell in which it was imbedded came to Stanford in a consignment of geologic material from the coast of the state of Washington.

According to university authorities, the pearl is of little value as a gem, but the oyster in which it was found originated, they said, probably in the paleozoic period.

"We have no record," said Herold, "of pearls having been formed before the time this one was created. It retains considerable luster and when thoroughly polished will regain more, but its 5,000,000 years of existence has taken out about 50 per cent of its luster."

"At the time this pearl was made the dinosaur, mastodon and sabre toothed tiger were in existence."

ROBINS ACCEPT HUMAN AID.

Man Replaces Fallen Nest and Birds Occupy It.

Seattle, Wash.—"I had always understood," said Crawford E. White, the attorney, who lives at 4203 Mead street, "that birds would invariably abandon a nest which had been disturbed by human hands."

"Something that happened in my yard the other day is a distinct exception to this rule. Two robins had a nest in the branches of a cedar tree. The cross limb which held up the nest fell away and let it down on the ground."

"I thought that would be the end of # that nest. But the two birds stayed

near it all the next day, and finally I got the idea of rebuilding it. I took a foot ladder and fastened the nest back, securely in place with some ordinary hay baling wire.

"The robins apparently liked the rough job I made of it, for they came back and have been working together rebuilding the old nest."

GIRLS TOO BASHFUL.

Make Inquiries Over Phone Regarding Man Wishing to Wed.

St. Paul.—"Ambitious, but bashful," is the characterization Joseph Mounts, secretary to Chief of Police John J. O'Connor, made of a St. Paul young woman after a day of telephone calls regarding Elmer Johnson, rancher, of Sidney, Mont., who wrote to the chief making an offer of matrimony to a suitable St. Paul girl.

"Many girls," said Mr. Mounts, "called me asking about Johnson, but none would give me her name. I think the girls are passing up a good thing, because I think the man is on the level."

Johnson has 320 acres of fertile Montana land, two miles from a railroad, and says he is "well fixed."

"Some of the girls talked real fine, too," added Mr. Mounts, "and if Johnson had heard them maybe he would have liked to look them over. It's too bad they are so bashful."

FINDS DIAMOND IN TOBACCO.

Railroad Engineer Discovers Gem In Tin of the Weed.

St. Mary's, Pa.—Patrick Fehley, an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad, stationed here, considers himself a very lucky individual.

A few days ago he bought a ten cent tin of tobacco. While replenishing his pipe he was surprised to see a ring imbedded in the weed, and examination proved it to contain a setting which looked suspiciously like a diamond. He took his find to a jeweler, who appraised the stone to be worth at least $50.
